Dear Industry Partners,

As a supplier of process control and environmental monitoring equipment, Rust Automation will remain open and continue to support the maintenance, repair, and operation of critical industries such as Water and Wastewater, Energy, Chemical, Food & Beverage, Pharmaceutical, as well as others.

We continue to balance our ongoing support of these critical industries with the health and safety of our employees and community. This has been achieved by having most of our employees use technology to digitally project into your facilities to assist with applications and procurement needs. Those working in our office are following both our local government and the CDC's recommendations and guidelines closely.

Please feel free to contact us if you have any questions or require any product/application support.

Stronger-Together!

The Rust Automation Family,
Grant Rust President
